2 ARE CHARGED FOR NOT HAVING CHAINS ON CARS

Sunday night's snowstorm and resultant slippery highways were held responsible for numerous accidents in Adams county, some investigated by state and borough police and others not reported.

Two drivers were arrested by state police of the Gettysburg substation following an accident on the Emmitsburg road at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night, on charges of failing to have chains on their automobiles.

State police said a car operated by David Melvin Glass, 18, of Emmitsburg R. 2, was traveling south when it skidded and turned completely around on the highway. A car operated by Lloyd Emmanuel Shultz, 30, of Emmitsburg, ran head-on into the Glass car.

Fines Are Forfeited
Both drivers forfeited fines of $10 and costs each to Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore today. Damage to the Shultz car was estimated at $50 and to the Glass car at $25. No one was injured.

Automobiles operated by Mrs. Madeleine Killalea, Gettysburg R. 4, and Mary Sites, Fairfield, collided on the Harrisburg road about 9 o'clock Sunday night. No one was injured.

An automobile driven by Horace H. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 3, struck the rear of a sedan operated by Victor D. Daley, Waynesboro, on Steinwehr avenue near the Home. Sweet Home tourist cottages, borough police reported. The accident occurred at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Edna Godlove, Waynesboro, a passenger in the Daley car, suffered a injury to her shoulder. Damage to Waybright's car was estimated at $200, and to the Daley car at $100.

Bus Car Collide
An automobile driven by Hamilton Clark, York, struck the parked truck of Marshal Layton, Breeseville, Pa., on Buford avenue at 11:20 p.m. Sunday, according to the borough police. Damage to the car was estimated at $100. There was no damage to the truck, according to the report.

An automobile and a school bus collided at Two Taverns this morning. No report was available.

State police reported road conditions extremely slippery and hazardous Sunday night, and said many cars had difficulty in negotiating Mt. Newman. Cars with chains had little trouble, they said.

Three Speeders Fined By Justices

William Gene Hopkins, Taneytown, charged by state police of the Gettysburg substation with speeding, paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace David Hykes, New Oxford, R. D.

Boyd H. Smith, Jr., Williamsport, Pa., was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace John Hinkle, York Springs, R. D. on a speeding charge. Earl K. Johnson, Port Credit, Ontario, Can., paid $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore Saturday for speeding.

A ten-day notice was sent today by Squire Baschore to Harry Tawney, 342 West Middle street, on a parking meter violation. Police said Tawney was given red tickets on October 14 and 20 and failed to pay a fine or report. Burgess William G. Weaver said a notice sent to him was also ignored.

16 PLOWS ARE CLEARING ROADS OF HEAVY SNOW

Sixteen snowplows continued to patrol the county today after an all night session to keep the main highways open despite a snowfall of 5 1/2 to seven inches in depth. The deepest snow was reported from the Wenksville section.

Two graders and 14 trucks of the local state highway department section began their job of snow removal about 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. They continued on the job throughout the night and on into this afternoon.

In addition 16 caretakers throughout the county placed clinders on curves and hills to cut down the slippery condition of the highways.

No Serious Drifting
At various places in the county the snow removal gangs feared drifting during the latter part of Sunday night, but with dawn and a rise in temperature the snow became more moist and little drifting developed.

Most of the job this morning consisted of the removal of slush from the highways to prevent colder weather tonight turning the slush into ice and making the roads more dangerous.

If the snowfall ceases, the highway department hoped to begin clearing the secondary roads of the county today. Despite the work of the department, the highways were slippery Sunday night and this morning and little vehicular traffic was moving during the night.

Blame Coastal Storm
More snow was forecast for much of Pennsylvania today, the Associated Press said, prompting renewed warnings to motorists to take it easy on the highways, or better still, stay off them altogether. Many roads were made hazardous by yesterday's light snowfall, combined in some parts of the state with rain, sharp winds and a glaze of ice.

State police headquarters at Harrisburg reported the Pennsylvania turnpike was very slippery east and west of the capital and that during the night drivers did little more than inch their cars along. All other roads in the central part of the state were said to be coated with ice.

The Weather Bureau said accumulated snowfall was expected to be six to eight inches in the eastern part of the state and four to five inches in the west.

The weatherman blamed the new snow on a storm he said is moving up the Atlantic coast. He predicted the snowfall would turn to mere flurries after the storm passes this area.

800 PERSONS AT XMAS CONCERT SUNDAY NIGHT

The Christmas story, ever old but ever new, was told again at Gettysburg college Sunday night, in song, in scripture, in tableau and in the annual Christmas message of Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college.

It marked another in the series of annual Christmas concerts by the college choir, under the direction of Parker B. Wagnild, head of the music department at the college, and was presented in the Eddie Plank memorial gymnasium. About 800 persons attended.

Prof. Harry P. Bolich was at the organ for the preludes, "Fantasia on Christmas Theme," by Shackley, and "Tillity for Organ," by Stickle. This was followed by the call to worship, by the Rev. Edward K. Stipe, college chaplain, and the audience then joined in singing "O Come All Ye Faithful." The scripture story of the nativity was read by Rev. Stipe.

Nativity Scene
With only the colored lights from the two Christmas trees which flanked the stage, the curtain rolled back to reveal the tableau of the Nativity scene, presented by the Student Christian association.

Virginia A. Saul took the part of Mary; J. Calvin Moreland of Joseph; The shepherds were Eugene A. Gardner, James M. MacDonald and R. Wade Oitel. The Kings were Richard Major, III, Charles Ruby and Charles Oberkehr.

Spotlights shone on the manger scene. With the shepherds gathered on one side and the three kings on the other, the choir sang "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," a plain song, and "O, Holy Night," by Adams, with Maude E. Aurand taking the solo part, and "Christmas Cradle Hymn," by Christiansen, with solo by Martha L. Funk.

Co-ed Choralliers
Two other numbers by the choir, followed, "The Angels' Song," by Tschetschikov, and "Hodie, Christus Natus Est," by Willian.

A new feature of the Christmas concert was the Co-ed Choralliers, under the direction of Ruth V. Luebbe. They sang three numbers, "Lullaby for Mary's Son," by An-

REPORT COUNTY SOLDIER KILLED IN KOREAN WAR

Pfc. Edgar Kauffman, 19, reported missing in action in Korea three months ago, has officially been reported killed in action. A telegram to this effect from the war department was received Friday by the soldier's mother, Mrs. Guy Kauffman, Gardners R. 2.

Kauffman enlisted in the army late in January, 1949, and received his basic training at Ft. Lewis, Washington. He was home on furlough early in July of this year, and upon his return to duty was sent to Korea. He attended Biglerville high school and had been employed in an Aspers plant before his enlistment.

Sixth War Fatality
Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kauffman, he leaves five brothers and two sisters, Earl H. Kauffman, 147 West Middle street; Charles Kauffman, Gardners R. 2; Mrs. Hazel Massey, Carlisle, and Robert, Cletus, Donald and Ruth Kauffman, at home.

Kauffman was reported missing in action on September 10. He wrote only one letter home after arriving in Korea, and is believed to have met his death only two weeks after going into action, in an assault on a mountain stronghold.

Kauffman is the sixth Adams county man to lose his life in the fighting in Korea. Another is still reported missing.

Last Of Trapped Marines, Doughboys At Seaport; Doug Flies To War Front; Says UN Forces Not Beaten

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—General MacArthur flew to Korea today for a hard look at his heavily-hit United Nations command. He said it remains unbeaten, relatively secure, and able to battle the Chinese hordes.

His secret visit to both the northwest and northeast fronts came as the last elements of 25,000 bone-cold, unshaven American Marines and doughboys streamed down onto the Hamhung coastal plain from a series of Red traps near Changjin reservoir.

Huge Fleet Is Standing By
A huge fleet stood off Hamhung's port of Hungnam. But whether it would evacuate the weary, outnumbered U.S. 10th Corps units in the northeast remained to be seen. The northwest front was relatively quiet.

There was a note of guarded optimism in MacArthur's statement to correspondents after he returned to Tokyo from his quick trip to the warfronts. He had conferred on-the-spot with his top generals.

"The United Nations command, in spite of its recent heavy fighting, is in excellent shape with high morale and conspicuous self confidence," the U.N. commander said. "Although heavily outnumbered it has come through in a superior manner."

BULLETINS

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—President Truman today gave intense study to the question of declaring a national emergency—possibly to be followed by wage-price controls—and asked both Democratic and Republican Congressional leaders to meet with him Wednesday.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) was one of those invited to a White House meeting at 10 a.m. (EST) Wednesday. It was the first time Taft, head of the Senate GOP policy committee, has been brought into the emergency consultations since the Korean war.

Washington, Dec. 1 (AP)—Republican leaders failed today to reach any decision on a proposal by Senator Ives of New York that Senate Republicans declare "no confidence" in Secretary of State Acheson and demand his immediate ouster. In a closed door meeting, a four-man subcommittee of the Senate Republican policy committee considered a resolution drafted by Ives calling for Acheson's removal.

800 PERSONS AT XMAS CONCERT SUNDAY NIGHT

The Christmas story, ever old but ever new, was told again at Gettysburg college Sunday night, in song, in scripture, in tableau and in the annual Christmas message of Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college.

It marked another in the series of annual Christmas concerts by the college choir, under the direction of Parker B. Wagnild, head of the music department at the college, and was presented in the Eddie Plank memorial gymnasium. About 800 persons attended.

Prof. Harry F. Bolich was at the organ for the preludes, "Fantasia on Christmas Theme," by Shackley, and "Trilogy for Organ," by Stieckles. This was followed by the call to worship, by the Rev. Edward K. Stipe, college chaplain, and the audience then joined in singing "O Come All Ye Faithful." The scripture story of the nativity was read by Rev. Stipe.

Nativity Scene
With only the colored lights from the two Christmas trees which flanked the stage, the curtain rolled back to reveal the tableau of the Nativity scene, presented by the Student Christian association.

Virginia A. Saul took the part of Mary; J. Calvin Moreland of Joseph; The shepherds were Eugene A. Gardner, James M. MacDonald and R. Wade Ortel. The Kings were Richard Major, III, Charles Ruby and Charles Oberkehr.

Spotlights shone on the manger scene. With the shepherds gathered on one side and the three kings on the other, the choir sang "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," a plain song, and "O, Holy Night," by Adams, with Maude E. Aundant taking the solo part, and "Christmas Cradle hymn," by Christiansen, with solo by Martha L. Fink.

Two other numbers by the choir, followed, "The Angels' Song," by Tchesnokov, and "Hodie, Christus Natus Est," by Willan.

A new feature of the Christmas concert was the Co-Ed Choralists, under the direction of Ruth V. Luebbe. They sang three numbers, "Lullaby for Mary's Son," by Andersen, with solo by Martha L. Fink.

REPORT COUNTY SOLDIER KILLED IN KOREAN WAR

Pfc. Edgar Kauffman, 19, reported missing in action in Korea three months ago, has officially been reported killed in action. A telegram to this effect from the war department was received Friday by the soldier's mother, Mrs. Guy Kauffman, Gardners R. 2.

Kauffman enlisted in the army late in January, 1949, and received his basic training at Ft. Lewis, Washington. He was home on furlough early in July of this year, and upon his return to duty was sent to Korea. He attended Biglerville high school and had been employed in an Aspers plant before his enlistment.

Sixth War Fatality

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kauffman, he leaves five brothers and two sisters, Earl H. Kauffman, 147 West Middle street; Charles Kauffman, Gardners R. 2; Mrs. Hazel Massey, Carlisle, and Robert, Cletus, Donald and Ruth Kauffman, at home.

Kauffman was reported missing in action on September 10. He wrote only one letter home after arriving in Korea, and is believed to have met his death only two weeks after going into action, in an assault on a mountain stronghold.

Kauffman is the sixth Adams county man to lose his life in the fighting in Korea. Another is still reported missing.

More Snow Today Than Last Winter

Today's snow was the largest since January 31, 1949, when seven inches fell in about 12 hours.

Today's snow was far more than was measured here all last winter. Last winter Gettysburg had less snow than any winter on record here in the last 47 years. December and January had only "traces" of snow. There was 1.6 inches in February and 2 inches in March. Today's snow measured close to six inches here.

Week-end temperatures stayed not far from freezing. The low Saturday night was 24 degrees and Sunday's highest reading was 37. The minimum Sunday night was 29 degrees.

In Gettysburg, Borough Engineer LeRoy Winebrenner's highway crew began plowing the streets at 10 o'clock Sunday evening. At 2 o'clock this morning the snow loader was brought into service and 50 truck loads of snow were removed from the main streets by 7 o'clock this morning. Today's use of the snow loader marked the first time it has been in operation for two years. Last winter there was no need to use the equipment.

Last Of Trapped Marines, Doughboys At Seaport; Doug Flies To War Front; Says UN Forces Not Beaten

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—General MacArthur flew to Korea today for a hard look at his heavily-hit United Nations command. He said it remains unbeaten, relatively secure, and able to battle the Chinese hordes.

His secret visit to both the northwest and northeast fronts came as the last elements of 25,000 bone-cold, unshaven American Marines and doughboys streamed down onto the Hamhung coastal plain from a series of Red traps near Changjin reservoir.

Huge Fleet Is Standing By

A huge fleet stood off Hamhung's port of Hungnam. But whether it would evacuate the weary, outnumbered U.S. 10th Corps units in the northeast remained to be seen. The northwest front was relatively quiet.

There was a note of guarded optimism in MacArthur's statement to correspondents after he returned to Tokyo from his quick trip to the warfronts. He had conferred on-the-spot with his top generals.

"The United Nations command, in spite of its recent heavy fighting, is in excellent shape with high morale and conspicuous self confidence," the U.N. commander said. "Although heavily outnumbered it has come through in a superior manner."

Officers Are Re-elected By Church Group

Harvey Smith was re-elected president of the Men of Christ Lutheran church Sunday evening at a meeting of the organization held in the church Sunday school rooms.

Dr. John Zinn was re-named vice president, Frank Coffelt, secretary and John Kaltrieder, treasurer.

The meeting opened at 6:30 o'clock with a dessert followed by the formal business session at 7:15 o'clock. Jerome Alexis, a student at the local seminary, led the meditation. Two Christmas carols were sung. Following the prayer a psalm was read responsively. The meditation was closed by prayer by the Rev. Wallace Fisher. John Kaltrieder presided at the piano. Robert Weaver was chairman of the nominating committee.

Ways and means of attaining a larger attendance at the meetings were discussed. President Smith will appoint a committee to contact those who have not been regular in attendance.

The program committee, Col. Thomas E. Paddy, J. Blaine Saltzer and Charles T. Coffelt will meet in the near future to arrange plans for the coming year's program.

The next session of the group will be held January 7. President Smith announced. The session Sunday evening adjourned early to permit those present to attend the concert by the Gettysburg college choir.

50-Mile Retreat

A marine spokesman said the last elements of the 25,000-man escape force completed the hazardous, winding descent from snowbound mountains ringing the big hydroelectric reservoir to the coastal plain leading to Hamhung.

The bitter 50-mile retreat—the longest and one of few in the history of the spirited Marine corps—began November 28. The spokesman estimated the Leathernecks alone killed 15,000 Chinese in breaking through the series of traps.

A marine medical officer compared the Leatherneck casualties to those the corps suffered in taking the tiny atoll of Tarawa in World War II—3,168 men. But total marine and doughboy casualties were higher.

4,000 Wounded Saved

AP Correspondent Jack Macbeth, the only wire service newsmen who was with the trapped force, said more than 4,000 wounded were flown from the snow-mantled airstrip at Koto two days before the final breakout drive.

Most of the wounded were marines. There was no estimate of American dead, but Macbeth said the number would be high.

"Two days ago," he wrote, "I watched nearly 200 bodies nosed into a big grave by a bulldozer. There was no time for more elaborate arrangements."

Macbeth called the withdrawal "one of the fightingest retreats in military history." He said the Leathernecks "walked out of 12 days of freezing hell, full of fight after a gory nightmare of death in Korea's icy mountains."

Temperatures at times plunged to 25 degrees below zero. The marine retreat began November 28 from the village of Yudam, west of Changjin reservoir.

U. S. warships continued hammering Chinese troops and supply arteries throughout North Korea.

Marine and navy pilots from the carriers Leyte and Sicily reported killing more than 2,000 Chinese Sunday in a single sector north of Hamhung. Fifth Air Force pilots estimated 1,600 Chinese were killed or wounded in northwest sectors.

CANCEL FIRE CALL

A short circuit in an electric stove at the home of Mrs. Louis P. Kooker, R. 4, on the crossroad west of Schriver's Corners resulted in a call to the Gettysburg fire company at 9:40 Sunday morning. The call was cancelled, however, before firemen left the engine house, when the fire was extinguished with several pails of water.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

SAY STOCKPILE OF COAL ENOUGH

Harrisburg, Dec. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's coal stockpiles are adequate to meet virtually any winter emergency, Mines Secretary Richard Maize said Friday.

It would take a prolonged mine shutdown and an extraordinarily bitter winter to create a coal shortage serious enough to hamper industry and inconvenience homeowners, he reported. And neither possibility is in sight.

"We don't have precise figures on stockpiles but both bituminous and anthracite operations are near a peak," said Maize.

The mines secretary said the blizzard of two weeks ago cut soft coal production in western Pennsylvania by more than a million tons through a shutdown of snowbound pits. Thousands of tons were lost in flood pits in eastern Pennsylvania's anthracite region, he added.

Maize said the production losses were comparatively minor however, since 1950 production of Pennsylvania soft coal is estimated at 102,000,000 tons and hard coal at 47,000,000 tons. The tonnage in both fields is up from 1949 when strikes cut sharply into production.

Philadelphia, Dec. 9 (AP)—A big volume of Christmas holiday business is seen for Pennsylvania by the Philadelphia Federal Reserve District.

The bank's summary, issued Wednesday, said it looked for increased business during the remainder of the month although the tempo of business and industrial gains slackened somewhat in the state during recent months. The gains, however, outran those for a comparable 1949 period, the bank reported.

Nearly 1000 photo labs are used by soldier-photographer-hobbyists in the Far East Command.

TRUMAN-ATTLEE STATEMENT IS CALLED 'MILD'

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—There was nothing sharp or fiery about the statement issued by the White House after the six meetings between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee.

In fact, at a time when American and other United Nations' troops were being killed by Chinese in Korea, the statement was studded with suggestions for peace.

But a few hours later in New York, Secretary of Defense Marshall, urging manufacturers to great arms production, predicted the best this country could look forward to for years was "prolonged tension."

Question Not Decided

The statement on Truman and Attlee said they would like to talk peace with the Chinese. It didn't reveal what decision they agreed upon—if any—if the Chinese spurn the peace suggestion. (Informed British diplomats told reporters the two men did not reach a decision on this because of the uncertainties of the battle situation in Korea.)

The statement indicated they would leave the decision on China up to the United Nations. It is possible that at this moment the western world can't decide what to do about the Chinese if they insist upon throwing the U.N. forces out of Asia and into the sea.

Of course, strong threats by this country and Britain might have given the Chinese and Russians a talking point they could use in excusing even more drastic aggression than that already committed.

Oliver Branch Out

Perhaps Secretary Marshall gave a good indication of what was on the joint Truman-Attlee mind when they issued yesterday's very mild statement of intentions.

Talking to the National Association of Manufacturers in New York last night, Marshall said: "The country is facing an unprecedented era in American life and we have to do all in our power to prevent the state of affairs of today, bad as it is, from deteriorating into something dreadful to contemplate—another world war."

Holding out the olive branch to the Russians and Chinese, the White House statement said: "We believe that the Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and China could, if they chose, modify their conduct in such a way to make these defense preparations unnecessary."

TRUMAN LETTER TO MUSIC CRITIC STIRS COMMENT

Washington, Dec. 9 (AP)—President Truman's knuckle-cracking letter to a music critic who panned his daughter's singing provoked chuckles and some sharp Republican comment today.

In the free-swinging style he sometimes uses in private conversations with friends, the President let go at Paul Hume, critic for the Washington Post. Hume had said in his review that Margaret Truman's singing last Tuesday night at a well-attended concert was "flat a good deal of the time."

Few outside of the President and Hume professed publicly knowing just what Mr. Truman said. But the Washington Daily News quoted the President in an irate-father vein like this:

Pegler Comments

"I have just read your lousy review buried in the back pages. You sound like a frustrated old man who never made a success, an eight-ounce man on a four-ounce job and all your ulcers working."

"I never met you but if I do you'll need a new nose and plenty of beefsteak and perhaps a supporter below."

Westbrook Pegler, a guttersnipe, is a gentleman compared to you. You can take that as more of an insult than as a reflection on your ancestry." In New York, Pegler, a news columnist often critical of Mr. Truman's administration said:

"It is a great tragedy that in this awful hour the people of the United States must accept in lieu of leadership the nasty malice of a President whom Bernard Baruch in a similar incident called a rude, uncouth, ignorant man. Let us pray."

Written Off As Proud Papa

Some who said they had seen the letter described the President's language as even more earthy than the published version. Hume said the letter, written in longhand on White House stationery and signed "H.S.T." was similar to the published version "but not quite identical."

While Hume was inclined to excuse what he called "an outburst of temper," at least one Republican Senator wasn't quite so charitable.

Senator Watkins (R-Utah) told a reporter: "That is what you have to expect. This is in line with some of the comments the President has made before when his guardians were not there to take care of him."

Most Democrats in Congress apparently assessed the incident as a human sort of reaction by a proud papa whose daughter's art wasn't appreciated as he thought it should be.

Hume is 32 years younger than the 66-year-old President, weighs 165 to "H.S.T.'s" 180 plus.

Pitt Trounces Bullets 65-50 Johns Hopkins Here Tuesday

Gettysburg college's basketball team bowed to a more aggressive University of Pittsburgh outfit here Saturday night 65-50 in opening its season before a capacity crowd.

The Bullets play their second game here Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock when Johns Hopkins will be met.

It was all Pitt after the first few minutes of play, the Panthers enjoying a comfortable margin throughout. Gettysburg's lone margin came in the opening minute when Pizzaloto opened with a free toss and Mahon connected for a goal.

Sensational goal tossing by Mike Belich, a veteran, featured for the Panthers. Belich was almost unstoppable the whole evening, connecting for 11 goals and a pair of fouls for 24 tallies and when he left the game midway in the last period he was given a huge ovation.

Coach "Hen" Bream used two combinations as units in the first two frames and then revised the lineup for the second half but all to no avail. His opening first consisted of Pizzaloto, Mahon, Ketterman, O'Brien and Watson.

Pitt Controls Boards
Pitt's aggressiveness gave it practically complete control under the baskets which proved fatal. The Bullets were definitely off in their shooting and are certain to improve. Fouls by Virostek and Belich and a goal by Yurko erased the Bullets' early 3-0 advantage after nearly four minutes of play. Pitt swept ahead 21-7 in the period and the outcome was never in doubt.

A new combination of Belber, Coder, Clark, Hare and Resanovich took over for the Bullets in the second period but could not dent the big lead amassed by the Panthers.

Play was slowed considerably in the last half due to a continuous stream of foul tries. During the evening the Bream-men were awarded 40 shots, converting 20. Pitt landed nine of its 19 charity heaves.

Sheppard Heads Trotting Group

Columbus, O., Dec. 11 (AP) — The master of the renowned Hanover Shoe farms has been chosen president of the United States Trotting association. Elected by the association's directors yesterday was Lawrence B. Sheppard, succeeding the late Henry Knauf of Ladd, Ill.

Sheppard, a key figure in harness racing for many years, has been a member of the association board since the outfit was organized in 1939.

The Hanover farms is known as harness racing's largest breeding establishment.
Sheppard's election was unanimous. The directors also announced that Don R. Miller, of Columbus, has been promoted from vice president to executive vice president.

NFL'S HECTIC SEASON ENDS IN DOUBLE TIE

By TED MEIER
New York, Dec. 11 (AP) — Snowstorms, mud, fist-swinging and referee-chasing climaxed one of the National Football league's most hectic campaigns as the regular season ended yesterday with unprecedented ties in both conferences.
The New York Giants whipped the Philadelphia Eagles 9-7 to finish the American conference race in a tie with the Cleveland Browns, who drubbed Washington, 45-21. The Chicago Bears edged Detroit 6-3 to deadlock with the idle Los Angeles Rams in the National conference.

The picture at a glance:
American Conference

	W.	L.	T.	Pct.
Cleveland	10	2	0	.833
New York	10	2	0	.833
National Conference
Los Angeles	9	3	0	.750
Chicago Bears	9	3	0	.750

Sunday the Giants and Browns battle at Cleveland and the Bears and the Rams at Los Angeles in playoff games to determine the conference titles.

To Play Overtime
If either game ends in a tie there will be a sudden death overtime—the first team scoring wins. The conference winners then will meet for the league title the following Sunday.

Yesterday's referee-chasing incident occurred at Shibe Park in Philadelphia, where 24,450 saw the Giants taking an early 9-0 lead over the Eagles and make it stand up in a fierce tackling fray.

In the third quarter with the Giants leading 9-7, Eagle tackle Jay MacDowell picked up a Giant fumble and ran 79 yards for an apparent touchdown. But the ball was called back and Referee Emil Heintz penalized the Eagles for clipping. After the game police had to rescue Heintz from fans who stopped him in the runway to the dressing room.

Feeling ran high throughout the game and led to several fist-throwing incidents.

The Giants' points came on 15-yard field goal by Randy Clay and a five-yard forward pass thrown by Charley Conerly, all in the first period. Clay took over the kicking duties because Ray Poole, the Giants' specialist, broke an ankle on the opening kickoff and was carried off.

The Eagles got their touchdown in the second quarter on a 36-yard pass. Tommy Thompson to Jim Farmer. The game ended in a snowstorm and with the lights turned on.

There was a snowstorm at Griffith stadium in Washington, where Cleveland had to come from behind to whip the Redskins, 45 to 21, before 30,706.

Freak Touchdown
Otto Graham threw four touchdown passes to spark the Browns, but until the last quarter it was a battle. Washington actually led, 21-14, in the third period and it took a sort of freak touchdown to put the Browns ahead for good after it was 21-21.

It came about this way. Deep in his own territory the Redskins' Sammy Baugh threw a pass intended for Charley Justice. Both Justice and Warren Lahr of the Browns jumped for the ball. Lahr managed to snare it, then both he and Justice fell on their backs. Lahr managed to get up faster and ran 15 yards for what proved the winning touchdown.

Cleveland played the entire second half without its star fullback, Marion Motley, who was banished at half time when he took a swing at Washington Guard Gene Pepper. Wrigley Field mud in Chicago stymied all efforts of the Bears and Detroit Lions to score a touchdown, but the Bears won on two field goals by George Blanda.

Although Cornell's team is composed mostly of sophomores, the squad is vastly more experienced than the Bullets, members having had considerable scholastic experience.

JOE GERI SETS NEW MARKS FOR STEELER SQUAD

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (AP)—Joe Geri, brilliant Pittsburgh Steeler tailback, waited until the eleventh hour to crack his squad's scoring and running records — and teammates have been ribbing him ever since.

The boys accuse Geri of listening to the public address announcer instead of to signals near the end of the game and causing an offside penalty that cost the Steeler five yards. The announcer was describing Geri's latest exploit.

The kidding is good-natured because the penalty didn't detract from Pittsburgh's 28-7 romp over the Chicago Cardinals yesterday—and half the team was offside anyway.

A season scoring record of 56 points established by the Steelers' Joe Glamp in 1948 collapsed in the second period. The Cardinals collapsed with it.

Geri snagged a rifle pass off the arm of quarterback Joe Gasparella and went all the way to pay dirt. It put the Steelers out in front 14-7.

The touchdown and three subsequent conversions—Geri already had converted once in the second period—sent his total for the day to 10 points and his season harvest to 61.

Geri went into the final 10 minutes of the game with Dudley's mark still about 25 yards away. Joe started tearing into the Cardinal line for five and 10 yards at a clip to end up pulling away from the old mark.

Geri carried 16 times for 78 yards to set the new rushing mark at 705, he had one other mark under his belt going into the game. His eight field goals this season nipped Armond Niccolai's total of seven set in 1936.

The clock had nearly run out by the time Geri topped the rushing record. That's when the offside penalty came.

A burst of cheers from the stands followed the announcement that Geri had broken another record. And several startled Steelers were offside as the next play started.

Coach Johnny Michelosen remarked: "Joe's pretty happy about the whole thing. So am I. He's a pretty nice boy."

Sports Roundup
By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Dec. 11 (AP) — The Eastern Rowing colleges decided the other day not to curtail their spring schedule but to leave their shells at home and borrow others on the scene of each race . . . and Tip Goes, ex-Syracuse crew man and race referee, figures that's a smart idea any time. . . "Crew cost Yale $86,000 last season," Goes explained. That's just a sample, but others spend almost as much. . . "The shells are all made by the same firm and they're almost identical. The coaches rig them in different ways, but that can be changed in a day."

Like most old oarsmen, Tip went on to say what a swell, unselfish sport rowing is and how the guys connected with it work for love.

Warriors Host To York This Evening

York high school, with two victories in as many starts, invades the Gettysburg high school gymnasium to oppose George Forney's Warriors tonight in the initial game of the season for the locals.

The junior varsity teams will clash at 6:45 o'clock.
York is gunning for its fourth straight District 3 PIAA title and has four veterans from last year's championship outfit. The Warriors on the other hand are inexperienced. However, the Forney-men will have a height advantage on their old rivals.

TOP PIAA CAGE TEAMS RUNNING TRUE TO FORM

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (AP)—Defending conference champions so far have weathered the opening moments of the 1950-51 Pennsylvania schoolboy basketball season without a major upset.

Most of the league races get under way after the Christmas holidays but the pre-loop exhibitions serve as a good sounding board for the strength of this season's editions.

Homestead's defending Class A champions of the PIAA have had easy sailing in their first three outings. Tomorrow night, however, they meet a real test in South Hills, a strong entry in the Pittsburgh city league.

York, winner of the Central Penn and District Three title for the past two years, has turned back Red Lion and Waynesboro so far. Tonight the Bearcats go against Gettysburg of the South Penn loop.

Kutztown, the defending Class B champion of the PIAA, showed it still has real power in smothering Birdsboro, 80-22. The Cougars meet Wyomissing, a tougher foe, tomorrow night.

Hazleton, the 1950 East Penn champion, opens tomorrow night against Wilkes-Barre Coughlin. Back in the East Penn for the first time in three years is Allentown, perennial top contender for the state title. The Canaries downed Overbrook of Philadelphia, 59-44, Friday.

A top inter-sectional game tomorrow night sends Reading, one of the Central Penn's best, to Bethlehem, a power in the East Penn. Reading won its opener from Emmaus, 47-34, while Bethlehem defeated Catasauqua, 63-51.

Another top-flight exhibition sends Johnstown, winner of the Tri-County league, to Greensburg. Both won their openers as Johnstown downed Conneville, 40-22, while Greensburg took Youngwood, 50-37.

The northwest's featured game sends Oil City to Mercer. Oil City downed Grove City, 37-30, last Friday while Mercer was upsetting Erie Strong Vincent, 44-32.

The Indiana-Punxsutawney battle also bears watching. Punxsutawney dropped a 47-45 decision to Bradford, defending District 9 titlist. Indiana defeated Apollo, 46-32.

"The biggest laugh I get is when somebody asks how much I get paid for refereeing," he chuckled. "My bookkeeper figured out that it cost me more than $5,000 a year."

ALLEN'S ALLEY
Phog Allen, basketball's "man of the year" for 1950, who brings his Kansas U. team to the Garden tomorrow, still gets a chuckle out of the advice he received when he first began coaching. . . It was in 1912 that Phog took a job as coach of all sports, including basketball, at Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers' college and Dr. James Naismith, inventor of the game, told him: "Forrest, you can't coach basketball; you just play it." . . . And later, at a coaching school, Knute Rynne remarked "There are two crazy games to coach and basketball is both of them." . . . Could be they both were right.

MONDAY MATINEE
Latest hot reports from the football coaching front say Henry Frka may not be back at Tulane next season and Ditto Art Guepe at Virginia. . . But it'll take some right good jobs to take them away. . . and Syracuse, N. Y., likely will begin staging big-time college basketball doubleheaders next year when a new arena is completed, besides putting on hockey. . . Suggested partnership: Marv Jensen, manager of Rex Layne, who is a mink farmer, and turnlier Hymle Wallman, Cesar Brion's partner. . . And if they could combine the best features of their fighters, they might have one good heavyweight. . . when the U. of New Hampshire completed its first unbeaten football season with eight victories, Chief Boston finally balanced the budget. The record now stands at 180 victories and 180 losses in 51 years.

Quakertown, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—The crash of a small private airplane near a country schoolhouse at nearby Shelly killed its two occupants who were returning home from a football game in Philadelphia.

State police identified the victims of the yesterday's crash as John Karpowicz, 40, of R. D. 3, Bethlehem, Pa., and his brother-in-law, Emery Bambu, 39, of 346 Liberty street, Bethlehem.

DAGROSA MAY BAR LOUIS IN PA.

Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP)—John (Ox) DaGrosa, Pennsylvania Athletic commissioner, is seeking to bar Joe Louis from any more fights, "in the best interests of boxing" and of the ex-champion himself.

DaGrosa disclosed last night that he has started a move to keep Louis out of the ring in Pennsylvania and will ask the National Boxing association to do likewise.

He asserted the aging Louis's scheduled fight with Freddie Besore in Detroit January 3 should be called for the "health, welfare and future" of the one-time Brown Bomber. Moreover, he said, permanent retirement of Louis would also be "in the best interests of boxing."

Greene Objects
DaCosta cited that Pennsylvania, a member of the NBA, has barred two other boxers—former lightweight champions Lew Jenkins and Bob Montgomery—from fighting in this state "for the same reasons."

He said the three-man Pennsylvania Athletic commission will review the matter today and probably send a petition to NBA commissioner, Abe Greene.

From his New Jersey home Greene commented: "I would not want to be a party to barring Joe Louis from boxing. He has meant too much to the sport and has made a magnificent contribution both in and out of the ring. The furthest I would want to go would be perhaps to call on Joe personally to keep his brilliant record and reputation as a great fighter untarnished."

No word was forthcoming from Louis.

RENO SAYS "NO"
Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Philadelphia Inquirer announced it had learned that Superior Court Judge Claude T. Reno has declined appointment as attorney general in John S. Fine's cabinet. The newspaper said that if Reno had accepted a nomination by Governor-elect Fine, it would have meant a $6,000-a-year salary cut from his $21,000 salary as a superior court judge.

There are more than 8,000 different items usually on display at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

Pitt Trounces Bullets 65-50 Johns Hopkins Here Tuesday

Gettysburg college's basketball team bowed to a more aggressive University of Pittsburgh outfit here Saturday night 65-50 in opening its season before a capacity crowd.

The Bullets play their second game here Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock when Johns Hopkins will be met.

It was all Pitt after the first few minutes of play, the Panthers enjoying a comfortable margin throughout. Gettysburg's lone margin came in the opening minutes when Pizzaloto opened with a free toss and Mahon connected for a goal.

Sensational goal tossing by Mike Belich, a veteran, featured for the Panthers. Belich was almost unstoppable the whole evening, connecting for 11 goals and a pair of fouls for 24 tallies and when he left the game midway in the last period he was given a huge ovation.

Coach "Hen" Bream used two combinations as units in the first two frames and then revised the lineup for the second half but all to no avail. His opening first consisted of Pizzaloto, Mahon, Ketterman, O'Brien and Watson.

Pitt Controls Boards
Pitt's aggressiveness gave it practically complete control under the baskets which proved fatal. The Bullets were definitely off in their shooting and are certain to improve.

Fouls by Virostek and Belich and a goal by Yurko erased the Bullets' early 3-0 advantage after nearly four minutes of play. Pitt swept ahead 21-7 in the period and the outcome was never in doubt.

A new combination of Belber, Coder, Clark, Hare and Resanovich took over for the Bullets in the second period but could not dent the big lead amassed by the Panthers.

Play was slowed considerably in the last half due to a continuous stream of foul tries. During the evening the Bream-men were awarded 40 shots, converting 20. Pitt landed nine of its 19 charity heaves.

JOE GERI SETS NEW MARKS FOR STEELER SQUAD

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (AP)—Joe Geri, brilliant Pittsburgh Steeler tailback, waited until the eleventh hour to crack his squad's scoring and running records — and teammates have been ribbing him ever since.

The boys accuse Geri of listening to the public address announcer instead of to signals near the end of the game and causing an offside penalty that cost the Steeler five yards. The announcer was describing Geri's latest exploit.

The kidding is good-natured because the penalty didn't detract from Pittsburgh's 28-7 romp over the Chicago Cardinals yesterday—and half the team was offside anyway.

A season scoring record of 56 points established by the Steelers' Joe Glamp in 1948 collapsed in the second period. The Cardinals collapsed with it.

Geri snagged a rifle pass off the arm of quarterback Joe Gasparella and went all the way to pay dirt. It put the Steelers out in front 14-7.

The touchdown and three subsequent conversions—Geri already had converted once in the second period—sent his total for the day to 10 points and his season harvest to 64.

The 26-year-old husky from Phoenixville, Pa., broke the Bullet Bill Dudley's 1942 season rushing record in a photo finish.

Geri went into the final 10 minutes of the game with Dudley's mark still about 25 yards away. Joe started tearing into the Cardinal line for five and 10 yards at a clip to end up pulling away from the old mark.

Geri carried 16 times for 78 yards to set the new rushing mark at 705, he had one other mark under his belt going into the game. His eight field goals this season nipped Armond Niccicci's total of seven set in 1936.

The clock had nearly run out by the time Geri topped the rushing record. That's when the offside penalty came.

A burst of cheers from the stands followed the announcement that Geri had broken another record. And several startled Steelers were offside as the next play started.

Coach Johnny Michelosen remarked:
"Joe's pretty happy about the whole thing. So am I. He's a pretty nice boy."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Eastern Rowing colleges decided the other day not to curtail their spring schedule but to leave their shells at home and borrow theirs at the scene of each race. . . . and Tip Goes, ex-Syracuse crew man and race referee, figures that's a smart idea any time. . . . "Crew cost Yale $86,000 last season," Goes explained. That's just a sample, but others spend almost as much. . . . "The shells are all made by the same firm and they're almost identical. The coaches rig them in different ways, but that can be changed in a day."

Like most old oarsmen, Tip went on to say what a swell, unselfish sport rowing is and how the guys connected with it work for love.

Warriors Host To York This Evening

York high school, with two victories in as many starts, invades the Gettysburg high school gymnasium to oppose George Forney's Warriors tonight in the initial game of the season for the locals.

The junior varsity teams will clash at 6:45 o'clock.

York is gunning for its fourth straight District 3 PIAA title and has four veterans from last year's championship outfit. The Warriors on the other hand are inexperienced. However, the Forney-men will have a height advantage on their old rivals.

TOP PIAA CAGE TEAMS RUNNING TRUE TO FORM

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (AP)—Defending conference champions so far have weathered the opening moments of the 1950-51 Pennsylvania schoolboy basketball season without a major upset.

Most of the league races get under way after the Christmas holidays but the pre-loop exhibitions serve as a good sounding board for the strength of this season's editions.

Homestead's defending Class A champions of the PIAA have had easy sailing in their first three outings. Tomorrow night, however, they meet a real test in South Hills, a strong entry in the Pittsburgh city league.

York, winner of the Central Penn and District Three title for the past two years, has turned back Red Lion and Waynesboro so far. Tonight the Bearcats go against Gettysburg of the South Penn loop.

Kutztown, the defending Class B champion of the PIAA, showed it still has real power in smothering Birdsboro, 80-22. The Cougars meet Wyomissing, a tougher foe, tomorrow night.

Hazleton, the 1950 East Penn champion, opens tomorrow night against Wilkes-Barre Coughlin. Back in the East Penn for the first time in three years is Allentown, perennial top contender for the state title. The Canaries downed Overbrook of Philadelphia, 59-44, Friday.

A top inter-sectional game tomorrow night sends Reading, one of the Central Penn's best, to Bethlehem, a power in the East Penn. Reading won its opener from Emmaus, 47-34, while Bethlehem defeated Catasauque, 63-51.

Another top-flight exhibition sends Johnstown, winner of the Tri-County league, to Greensburg. Both won their openers as Johnstown downed Connellsville, 40-22, while Greensburg took Youngwood, 50-37.

The northwest's featured game sends Oil City to Mercer. Oil City downed Grove City, 37-30, last Friday while Mercer was upsetting Erie Strong Vincent, 44-32.

The Indiana-Punxsutawney battle also bears watching. Punxsutawney dropped a 47-45 decision to Bradford, defending District 9 titlist, Indiana defeated Apollo, 46-32.

"The biggest laugh I get is when somebody asks how much I get paid for refereeing," he chuckled. "My bookkeeper figured out that it cost me more than $5,000 a year."

ALLEN'S ALLEY

Phog Allen, basketball's "man of the year" for 1950, who brings his Kansas U. team to the Garden tomorrow, still gets a chuckle out of the advice he received when he first began coaching. . . . It was in 1912 that Phog took a job as coach of all sports, including basketball, at Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers' college and Dr. James Naismith, inventor of the game, told him: "Forrest, you can't coach basketball; you just play it." . . . And later, at a coaching school, Knute Rochne remarked: "There are two crazy games to coach and basketball is both of them." . . . Could be they both were right.

MONDAY MATINEE

Lastest hot reports from the football coaching front say Henry Frnka may not be back at Tulane next season and Ditto Art Guepe at Virginia. . . . But it'll take some right good jobs to take them away. . . . and Syracuse, N. Y., likely will begin staging big-time college basketball doubleheaders next year when a new arena is completed, besides putting on hockey. . . . Suggested partnership: Marv Jensen, manager of Rex Layne, who is a mink farmer, and furrier Hymie Wallman, Cesar Brion's partner. . . . And if they could combine the best features of their fighters, they might have one good heavyweight. . . . when the U. of New Hampshire completed its first unbeaten football season with eight victories. Chief Boston finally balanced the budget. The record now stands at 180 victories and 180 losses in 51 years.

Quakertown, Pa., Dec. 11 (AP)—The crash of a small private airplane near a country schoolhouse at nearby Shelly killed its two occupants who were returning home from a football game in Philadelphia.

State police identified the victims of the yesterday's crash as John Karpowicz, 40, of R. D. 3, Bethlehem, Pa., and his brother-in-law, Emery Bambu, 39, of 346 Liberty street, Bethlehem.

DAGROSA MAY BAR LOUIS IN PA.

Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP)—John (Ox) DaGrosa, Pennsylvania Athletic commissioner, is seeking to bar Joe Louis from any more fights, "in the best interests of boxing" and of the ex-champion himself.

DaGrosa disclosed last night that he has started a move to keep Louis out of the ring in Pennsylvania and will ask the National Boxing association to do likewise.

He asserted the aging Louis's scheduled fight with Freddie Besore in Detroit January 3 should be called for the "health, welfare and future, of the one-time Brown Bomber. Moreover, he said, permanent retirement of Louis would also be "in the best interests of boxing."

Greene Objects
DaCosta cited that Pennsylvania, a member of the NBA, has barred two other boxers—former lightweight champions Lew Jenkins and Bob Montgomery—from fighting in this state "for the same reasons."

He said the three-man Pennsylvania Athletic commission will re-

He has meant too much to the sport and has made a magnificent contribution both in and out of the ring. The furthest I would want to go would be perhaps to call on Joe personally to keep his brilliant record and reputation as a great fighter unblemished."

RENO SAYS "NO"
Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Philadelphia Inquirer announced it had learned that Superior Court Judge Claude T. Reno has declined appointment as attorney general in John S. Fine's cabinet. The newspaper said that if Reno had accepted a nomination by Governor-elect Fine, it would have meant a $6,000-a-year salary cut from his $21,000 salary as a superior court judge.

The "Messiah" had been borrowed from the Johnstown public library by the church choir in preparation for a performance of the oratorio. When the fire, of unknown origin, was discovered church officials carried out the priceless volume before the flames could reach it.

All city fire equipment, plus that of surrounding towns, fought the flames. Five firemen were overcome and several suffered cuts and bruises.

The Rev. Allen Kestle, pastor of the church, estimated the loss. He said church services will be held as usual tomorrow but in another building.

Holidays Not To Stop Army Training Washington, Dec. 11 (P)—The army announced Friday that training will continue through the holiday season at all camps in the United States except on Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

The army explained that commanders at camps and posts may grant leave to men who can be spared in order to give them time to go home for the holidays.

The army originally planned to suspend training for the two holiday week-ends only, but on November 11 announced that a general training holiday would be granted from December 23 through January 1.

Spokesmen explained here that the purpose of the shortened holiday period was to prevent any break in the intensive training program. They added that camp commanders might find it possible to give quite a few men more time off than just the two holidays.

The White Sox get a hard-hitting left-handed batting outfielder in Zarilla, 30, who hit .325 for the Red Sox in 130 games. He had 32 doubles, 10 triples and nine homers.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DIVINE DISCONTENT

In the introduction to a little book of these Talks, published many years ago ("Just Among Friends"), the late William Allen White wrote these words: "The most precious gift God has given to this land is not its great riches of soil and forest and mine, but the divine discontent planted deeply in the hearts of the American people."

Once we become satisfied we begin to wither and become useless. I have a book in my library entitled "This Is My Best." The editor wrote to a great group of noted writers and asked each one to contribute what he or she considered his or her best. Naturally many of the contributors wrote in and sent what they considered their best up to that time, but most expressed the opinion that they had not yet produced their best! A good sign.

None of us would produce our best work if we ever thought for a moment that we had fulfilled that task. I have known a great many famous and great writers, but I have never met a single one who seemed satisfied with what he or she had already produced. Novelists all look forward to producing the great American novel! That divine discontent with themselves is what inspires them.

They say that a "rolling stone gathers no moss," but the one who rolls it does something to himself. He gathers experience—a valuable asset in any life. There are growing pains aplenty when one feels discontented with his life and work. God's eye is always set upon that one who is never satisfied with what he does, but who keeps striving with will and courage toward something better.

All revolutions have not proved to be good ones, but the good ones have come from seeds of discontent with ways that were wrong and needed to be set right. For two examples, the French Revolution and the American Revolution. There can be no "normalcy" in this world so long as a single slave exists!

Planted within us all are the seeds of divine discontent. Given good soil in which to grow, to bud and to bloom, you have a new world of hope and happiness in the making.

And our faith can make it a reality! Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "In Trust and Friendliness"

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

"JUST TOO BAD"
That Christmas comes but once a year, some grumpy folks are glad, But that it comes no more than once I think is just too bad. 'Twould do us all a lot of good if longer it could stay And what the Christmas spirit does could happen every day.

There'd be more smiles and fewer frowns for all of us to see If as we are at Christmas time, just once a week we'd be. Our minds would hold less bitterness and more of wishing well If every morning when we rose we heard the Christmas bell.

Gift giving is the custom old and little girls and boys Get happiness from dolls and drums and all the Christmas toys. But men and women want the love that gladdens Christmas Day And once a year seems not enough to have it on display.

The good will of the Christmas time a happier world would make. It needs the Christmas kindness that is done for friendship's sake. It needs the tender spirit and the warmth of Christmas cheer, And so I think it just too bad it comes but once a year.

BAD TIMES IN SANTA LAND
Meanwhile, strange and awful things had been happening in Santa Land.

On this particular night Mrs. Claus woke from a deep sleep. "Santa! Santa!" she cried, shaking Santa's bed. "There's something bothering the reindeer. Listen!" Santa, instantly wide awake, sat up and listened. He heard a mad tramping in the stables. Santa pulled on his boots and coat and raced from the house. Light went on all over Santa Land. All the little workers, wakened by the noise, poured from their houses—some still in their pajamas and nightgowns.

Marlowe, the sledmaker, ran by Santa's side. "What do you think it is?" he panted. "Don't know," said Santa. "The your bathrobe around you. We can't all be getting colds just before Christmas."

At the stables they found the reindeer skittering around their stalls, rolling their eyes with fright, and pounding the floor with their hooves. While the brownies lit lanterns, Santa went to the deer, talking gently, soothing them.

"Don't see anything the matter," said Pudding. "Guess the wind frightened them."

Suddenly there was a cry from the far end of the barn. Dewey, the whistle-maker, burst from a stall and shouted: "Dasher has gone! Our very best deer has gone!" The little folk rushed to the stall. It was empty. They hunted through the barn and the stable yard. Dasher was nowhere to be found. Santa stood silent and serious. The workers gathered around him crying, "Jindians again!"

And the workers snook with fright. For weeks the Jindians had been annoying the Santa Land workers.

Now you are wondering what Jindians are. Everyone knows that all the Indians today are good and friendly people. Well, Jindians are the Indians who stayed warlike when the other Indians became our friends. They moved further and further north until they reached the North Pole and of course you must visit the far north lands to see them.

They changed their name to Jindians so people wouldn't get them mixed up with Indians and think they were friendly.

The Jindians were very angry with Santa Claus. The Jindians said they just naturally hated good people. But the true reason was because Santa never brought them anything for Christmas. "So," said Jindian Chief Hurricane, "we fix so nobody get Christmas."

They crept into Santa Land and stole food and toys. They threw snowballs at the workers. They had war dances and scared the little folk half to death with their whooping. But never before tonight had they done anything so serious as steal one of Santa's reindeer.

Santa left the stables and returned to his cottage. Suddenly his fairies and brownies shouted and screamed and ran after him. "Got one! I got one of the Jindians!" gasped Patrick Tweedleknese, the oldest dwarf in Santa Land. He was hauling along by the collar a trembling creature, dirty and red eyed.

"Santa! Santa!" cried Mrs. Claus. "There's something bothering the reindeer."

"And what a shabby, shaking, shameful looking Jindian he is!" jeered Tweedleknese.

"Stop, stop!" cried Santa. He went up to the captive and peered at him closely.

"Who are you?" he asked. "Sir—s-sir," mumbled the wretch-

Harry Gold Given 30-Year Sentence

Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP) — Harry Gold will learn this week where he will serve his 30-year federal sentence for carrying atomic secrets to Russia.

The haggard, dark complexioned blockhead who has lost 40 pounds since his arrest last May was back in Philadelphia county prison today, but only temporarily. With the next few days the attorney general's office will designate the federal prison in which Gold will serve his sentence.

Through his attorney, John D. M. Hamilton, Gold said he would not appeal his sentence. Under federal statutes, he would be eligible for parole at the end of 10 years.

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—The Commerce department has moved to intercept some cargoes for Red China after several Senators had angrily demanded that the U. S. and Britain impose absolute embargoes on such trade.

Some cargoes for China, Hong Kong and Macao had been loaded under general export licenses before exports of all kinds to those places were brought last week-end under licensing controls that previously covered only "strategic" commodities.

This evening at 6:30 o'clock the Young People's choir of St. John's Lutheran church will have rehearsal for the Christmas pageant and the Primary department of the Sunday school will have rehearsal at the same time for the program which is presented in conjunction with the Young People's choir on Sunday, December 24, at 7:30 p.m. in the church. These groups will have rehearsal again on Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the church. The senior choir of the church will have rehearsal at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

Wednesday evening the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church will have its annual Christmas banquet for members and their families at the Pines Lutheran church, New Chester, leaving from the home of Walter D. Shoemaker, James avenue, at 6:30 p.m. All those who will not be there in time for the banquet are invited to attend the program afterward. Thursday at 7 o'clock the Guiding Light Sunday school class of St. John's, taught by Darrell Ecker will have a Christmas party at the church.

"The World's Redeemer" by Fred B. Holton will be presented by St. John's adult choir on Sunday, December 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Mrs. Jay D. Basehoar, church organist, will preside. Sunday evening, December 24, a candle-light Christmas communion will be held at 11 o'clock at St. John's church.

Today's Talk
BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
DIVINE DISCONTENT
In the introduction to a little book of these Talks, published many years ago ("Just Among Friends") the late William Allen White wrote these words: "The most precious gift God has given to this land is not its great riches of soil and forest and mine, but the divine discontent planted deeply in the hearts of the American people."
Once we become satisfied we begin to wither and become useless. I have a book in my library entitled "This Is My Best." The editor wrote to a great group of noted writers and asked each one to contribute what he or she considered his or her best. Naturally many of the contributors wrote in and sent what they considered their best up to that time, but most expressed the opinion that they had not yet produced their best! A good sign.
None of us would produce our best work if we ever thought for a moment that we had fulfilled that task. I have known a great many famous and great writers, but I have never met a single one who seemed satisfied with what he or she had already produced. Novelists all look forward to producing the great American novel! That divine discontent with themselves is what inspires them.
They say that a "rolling stone gathers no moss," but the one who rolls it does something to himself. He gathers experience—a valuable asset in any life. There are growing pains aplenty when one feels discontented with his life and work. God's eye is always set upon that one who is never satisfied with what he does, but who keeps striving with will and courage toward something better.
All revolutions have not proved to be good ones, but the good ones have come from seeds of discontent with ways that were wrong and needed to be set right. For two examples, the French Revolution and the American Revolution. There can be no "normalcy" in this world so long as a single slave exists.
Planted within us all are the seeds of divine discontent. Given good soil in which to grow, to bud and to bloom, you have a new world of hope and happiness in the making. And our faith can make it a reality! Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "In Trust and Friendliness"

Santa and the COWBOY
By LUCRECE HUDGINS
AP Newsfeatures
SYNOPSIS: George Sanders, 7, also known as "Kid Buckaroo, Terror of the West," flies on the back of Snow Bird to Santa Land, intending to help Santa subdue troublesome Jindians there. After many adventures Bucky comes within sight of Santa Land.
Chapter Six
BAD TIMES IN SANTA LAND
Meanwhile, strange and awful things had been happening in Santa Land.
On this particular night Mrs. Claus woke from a deep sleep. "Santa! Santa!" she cried, shaking Santa's bed. "There's something bothering the reindeer. Listen!"
Santa, instantly wide awake, sat up and listened. He heard a mad tramping in the stables, Santa pulled on his boots and coat and raced from the house. Light went on all over Santa Land. All the little workers, awakened by the noise, poured from their houses—some still in their pajamas and nightgowns.
Marlowe, the sledmaker, ran by Santa's side.
"What do you think it is?" he panted.
"Don't know," said Santa. "The reindeer are around you. We can't all be getting colds just before Christmas."
At the stables they found the reindeer skittering around their stalls, rolling their eyes with fright and pounding the floor with their hooves. While the brownies lit lanterns, Santa went to the deer, talking gently, soothing them.
"Don't see anything the matter," said Pinching. "Guess the wind frightened them."
Exactly there was a cry from the far end of the barn. Dewey, the whistle-maker, burst from a stall and shouted: "Dasher has gone! Our very best deer has gone!"
The little folk rushed to the stall. It was empty. They hurried through the barn and the stable yard. Dasher was nowhere to be found. Santa stood silent and serious. The workers gathered around him crying, "Jindians again!"
And the workers snook with fright. For weeks the Jindians had been annoying the Santa Land workers.
Now you are wondering what Jindians are. Everyone knows that all the Indians today are good and friendly people. Well, Jindians are the Indians who stayed warlike when the other Indians became our friends. They moved further and further north until they reached the North Pole and of course you must visit the far north lands to see them.
They changed their name to Jindians so people wouldn't get them mixed up with Indians and think they were friendly.
The Jindians were very angry with Santa Claus. The Jindians said they just naturally hated good people. But the true reason was because Santa never brought them anything for Christmas. "So," said Jindian Chief Hurricane, "we fix so nobody get Christmas."
They crept into Santa Land and stole food and toys. They threw snowballs at the workers. They had war dances and scared the little folk half to death with their whooping. But never before tonight had they done anything so serious as steal one of Santa's reindeer.
Santa left the stables and returned to his cottage. Suddenly his furies and brownies shouted and screamed and ran after him. "Got one! I got one of the Jindians!" gasped Patrick Tweedleknecs, the oldest dwarf in Santa Land. He was hauling along by the collar a trembling creature, dirty and red eyed.
"And what a shabby, shaking, shameful looking Jindian he is!" jeered Tweedleknecs.
"Stop, stop!" cried Santa. He went up to the captive and peered at him closely.
"Who are you?" he asked.
"Sir—s-sir," mumbled the wretched

Harry Gold Given 30-Year Sentence
Philadelphia, Dec. 11 (AP) — Harry Gold will learn this week where he will serve his 30-year federal sentence for carrying atomic secrets to Russia.
The haggard, dark complexioned bookkeeper who has lost 40 pounds since his arrest last May was back in Philadelphia county prison today, but only temporarily. With the next few days the attorney general's office will designate the federal prison in which Gold will serve his sentence.
Through his attorney, John D. M. Hamilton, Gold said he would not appeal his sentence. Under federal statutes, he would be eligible for parole at the end of 10 years.

Just Folks
By EDGAR A. GUEST
"JUST TOO BAD"
That Christmas comes but once a year, some grumpy folks are glad,
But that it comes no more than once I think is just too bad.
"Would do us all a lot of good if longer it could stay
And what the Christmas spirit does could happen every day.
There'd be more smiles and fewer frowns for all of us to see
If as we are at Christmas time, just once a week we'd be.
Our minds would hold less bitterness and more of wishing well
If every morning when we rose we heard the Christmas bell.
Gift giving is the custom old and little girls and boys
Get happiness from dolls and drums and all the Christmas toys.
But men and women want the love that gladdens Christmas Day
And once a year seems not enough to have it on display.
The good will of the Christmas time a happier world would make.
It needs the Christmas kindness that is done for friendship's sake.
It needs the tender spirit and the warmth of Christmas cheer,
And so I think it just too bad it comes but once a year.

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—If anything, the controversy over color television is hotter than ever. When it will end no one is venturing a guess. A Supreme Court decision may be necessary.

Before that happens some suggestions are being put forth that the whole question still might be thrown back to the industry itself to work out, under a time limit, a solution that could be technically satisfactory to all concerned. A similar situation prevailed once before in the black and white early days, and an all-industry special television systems committee reached a conclusion generally acceptable.

Meanwhile, demonstrations of the two systems most directly in conflict, CBS and RCA continue.

That of CBS, whose motor-driven color disc method was approved by the Federal Communications Commission, is being conducted on an experimental basis for the public in New York. Considerable favorable comment has ensued. Commercial introduction of this system as ordered by the FCC is in abeyance pending the outcome of court action taken in Chicago by RCA and others.

That of RCA, described as all-electronic and using a newly developed color tube, is being held in Washington. Last week improvements made since last spring's test were shown for the first time. Many of those present said much better color effects were produced, some even saying they compared favorably with the rival system.

Censorship Moves Nearer At Tokyo

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters has suspended informative briefing sessions for war correspondents, presumably for reasons of security. MacArthur's no-censorship rule still prevails but the new order means a basic source of news and background is closed to correspondents.

Soon afterwards, the British commander for Korea said the need for censorship is "growing stronger each day." It was the second time in a week that Lt. Gen. Sir Horace Robertson had raised the question of censorship.

Robertson said in a statement that censorship is "particularly important to prevent the enemy from getting early information on the location and movements of U. N. forces and their headquarters and on projected operations."

Robertson has made no official request for censorship. His earlier statement said in effect the problem was up to the United Nations.

Latest figures indicate that there are 3,550,000 tractors on U. S. farms.

Emmitsburg Couple Marks Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Shriver, of Emmitsburg, celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary Saturday, with a dinner party at the Lutheran church annual parish turkey supper. At their table were Dr. and Mrs. Ira W. Beall, of Libertytown, Md., Rev. and Mrs. Philip Bower and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Shank, Thurmont, Md. The couple were united in marriage at the home of Mrs. Shriver's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob F. Waybright, Gettysburg R. 2, December 9, 1902, by the Rev. William G. Minnick, then pastor of Mt. Joy Lutheran church. Mr. Shriver, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shriver, lived with his parents near Mt. Joy church at that time.

The couple started farming following their marriage and have lived on the farm since until their retirement a few years ago. They now live at their home on West Main street in Emmitsburg. They started farming on the Shriver home place, Gettysburg R. 2, and moved to Maryland 45 years ago after purchasing the Lewis Shriver home farm, where they lived for about 40 years. Mr. Shriver for many years personally operated or supervised the cultivation of around 500 acres of farm land, being one of the first to have a combine for grain harvesting and a corn picker in this area.

He has specialized in cattle growing and usually had a large herd of fine cattle. Along with his extensive farming he has done custom threshing, hay baling, combining, corn picking and silo filling. He has always taken a leading part in the inauguration and development of very many community enterprises and organizations, being a charter member of and organizer of numerous civic and industrial enterprises, serving at the present time as a member of the board of directors and executive committees of institutions, commercial and financial. He was active in establishing one of the very first rural telephone lines and influencing the general program of road improvement throughout this area.

Mrs. Shriver was the former Harriet M. Waybright. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shriver have been lifelong active members of the Lutheran church, being regular attenders at church. Mr. Shriver has served on the church council as deacon and has been on the building committee when many of the important improvements have been made at Elias Evangelical Lutheran church. Mrs. Shriver has been active in the various organizations of the church.

BATTLE LOOMS ON MARGIOTTI

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (P)—A new controversy stirred around Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti today—his possible reappointment by Governor-Elect John S. Fine and an expected fight in the Senate over confirmation.

The report that Fine may retain Margiotti as the commonwealth's chief legal official developed in the wake of the Pennsylvania society dinner at New York Saturday night. It followed another report that Fine had offered the post to Judge Claude T. Reno, Allentown, of the State Superior court, and that Reno had declined. Reno was attorney general during the administration of former Governor Arthur H. James.

A big barrier against Margiotti's appointment, however, would be the political lineup of 30 Republicans and 20 Democrats in the Senate, with four Democratic votes needed to confirm gubernatorial appointments. Democrats during the recent political campaign were critical of Margiotti's grand jury investigation of the Democratic administrations of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county. Margiotti, a controversial figure during the Democratic Erie administration in 1935-38, was brought back from political retirement last summer by Governor James H. Duff.

RELIEF LABOR ECONOMY BET

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (P)—An Indiana county lawmaker said today local governing bodies are missing an economy bet in failing to insist that able-bodied relief recipients work out their grants.

Rep. William R. McMillen cited a little-known 1939 law as a means of saving municipalities and school districts a lot of money in labor costs and at the same time reducing the Commonwealth's relief bill.

"We saved $10,000 in my school district back home by using people on relief to paint the schools," said McMillen. "If we accomplish something like that in one district, just think what could be done on a statewide basis."

The 1939 law requires county

Might Come Out As His Own Grandpa

Chicago, Dec. 11 (P)—Five-year-old Michael Waldman will become his mother's brother—as a result of boards of assistance to provide monthly all governing bodies and institutions or charities partly or entirely supported by tax money with a list of able-bodied relief recipients and their occupations.

The municipality, school district or institution contemplating a project in which relief recipients can be employed is authorized to ask for whatever work force is needed. The relief workers then must work a number of hours weekly to the extent that the prevailing wages meets their weekly relief grant.

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (AP)—A new controversy stirred around Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti today—his possible reappointment by Governor-Elect John S. Fine and an expected fight in the Senate over confirmation.

The report that Fine may retain Margiotti as the commonwealth's chief legal official developed in the emmitsburg, are being held today at 2 p.m. in the Emmitsburg Presbyterian church. The body will lie in state at the church from 1 o'clock until the time of the funeral. He is survived by his widow Margaret Fox and the following sons and daughters: Sarah Elizabeth Larson, Japan; Charles Wilson and Margaret Virginia at home; George E. and Mary E., of Baltimore; three sisters: Mrs. William O. Smith, Mrs. William H. Vogt, of Baltimore, and Mrs. William Glynn, of Silver Springs, Md., and two grandchildren.

Interment in the Blue Ridge cemetery, Thurmont, Md. Mr. Franklin has been a farmer in this community for many years residing at the old Fox homestead. He has been an active and long time member of the Presbyterian church. M. L. Creager, of Thurmont, is the funeral director.

wake of the Pennsylvania society dinner at New York Saturday night. It followed another report that Fine had offered the post to Judge Claude T. Reno, Allentown, of the State Superior court, and that Reno had declined. Reno was attorney general during the administration of former Governor Arthur H. James.

A big barrier against Margiotti's appointment, however, would be the political lineup of 30 Republicans and 20 Democrats in the Senate, with four Democratic votes needed to confirm gubernatorial appointments.

Democrats during the recent political campaign were critical of Margiotti's grand jury investigation of the Democratic administrations of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county. Margiotti, a controversial figure during the Democratic Earle administration in 1935-38, was brought back from political retirement last summer by Governor James H. Duff.

RELIEF LABOR ECONOMY BET

Harrisburg, Dec. 11 (AP)—An Indiana county lawmaker said today local governing bodies are missing an economy bet in failing to insist that able-bodied relief recipients work out their grants.

Rep. William R. McMillen cited a little-known 1939 law as a means of saving municipalities and school districts a lot of money in labor costs and at the same time reducing the Commonwealth's relief bill.

"We saved $10,000 in my school district back home by using people on relief to paint the schools," said McMillen. "If we accomplish something like that in one district, just think what could be done on a statewide basis."

The 1939 law requires county

boards of assistance to provide monthly all governing bodies and institutions or charities partly or entirely supported by tax money with a list of able-bodied relief recipients and their occupations.

The municipality, school district or institution contemplating a project in which relief recipients can be employed is authorized to ask for whatever work force is needed. The relief workers then must work a number of hours weekly to the extent that the prevailing wages meets their weekly relief grant.

New York, Dec. 11 (AP)—If anything, the controversy over color television is hotter than ever. When it will end no one is venturing a guess. A Supreme Court decision may be necessary.

Before that happens some suggestions are being put forth that the whole question still might be thrown back to the industry itself to work out, under a time limit, a solution that could be technically satisfactory to all concerned. A similar situation prevailed once before in the black and white early days, and an all-industry special television systems committee reached a conclusion generally acceptable.

Meanwhile, demonstrations of the two systems most directly in conflict, CBS and RCA continue.

That of CBS, whose motor-driven color disc method was approved by the Federal Communications Commission, is being conducted on an experimental basis for the public in New York. Considerable favorable comment has ensued. Commercial introduction of this system as ordered by the FCC is in abeyance pending the outcome of court action taken in Chicago by RCA and others.

That of RCA, described as all-electronic and using a newly developed color tube, is being held in Washington. Last week improvements made since last spring's test were shown for the first time. Many of those present said much better color effects were produced, some even saying they compared favorably with the rival system.

Censorship Moves Nearer At Tokyo

Tokyo, Dec. 11 (AP)—General MacArthur's headquarters has suspended informative briefing sessions for war correspondents, presumably for reasons of security. MacArthur's no-censorship rule still prevails but the new order means a basic source of news and background is closed to correspondents.

Soon afterwards, the British commander for Korea said the need for censorship is "growing stronger each day." It was the second time in a week that Lt. Gen. Sir Horace Robertson had raised the question of censorship.

Robertson said in a statement that censorship is "particularly important to prevent the enemy from getting early information on the location and movements of U. N. forces and their headquarters and on projected operations."

Robertson has made no official request for censorship. His earlier statement said in effect the problem was up to the United Nations.

Latest figures indicate that there are 3,550,000 tractors on U. S. farms.

Lillies Are Tough and Like To Winter in the Garden

Lillies are far from being delicate plants. If you fail with them it is more likely you were too fussy, than that you neglected them. Many failures result from planting hardy bulbs in the spring, rather than in the fall. Bulbs sold in the spring have passed the winter in cold storage, where they lose vigor, and are less resistant to disease than if they spent the winter planted in the garden.

Cold weather is no hardship to a hardy lily, but cold storage is an unnatural experience. And the only lilies which like standing in water are water lilies. Poor drainage, which allows the soil to remain wet for long periods, is likely to be fatal to the other kind. The proper soil is highly porous, allowing water to drain away, and air to enter. If you have sandy soil, or deep wood soil, rich in leaf mould, lilies should thrive in your garden especially if you can plant them on a southern slope.

Charts indicating that lily bulbs should be planted 8 to 10 inches deep are now being challenged, since bulb growers on the Pacific coast have found that excellent results can be obtained by relatively shallow planting. Lillium candidum and its hybrids should barely be covered with soil, they say, and larger bulbs should be planted with the depth of soil above them equal to the diameter of the bulb.

Another old-time rule which they challenge is that only bone meal should be used to fertilize lilies. They use ordinary commercial plant food in liberal amounts, and find it causes no injury. In preparing a bed for lilies, spade under a complete balanced plant food at the rate of 4 pounds to 100 square feet. In planting bulbs singly, mix a teaspoonful of plant food with soil at the bottom of the hole, and cover it with an inch of fresh soil on which to set

Things Of The Soil POISONING ORCHARD MICE

Damages inflicted by field mice on fruit trees vary in scope and nature from year to year, depending on the natural food supplies of the animals, number of surviving mice the previous year, shelter, and above all, on weather conditions. The number of survivors is greatly influenced by their enemies, particularly skunks, snakes and larger birds of prey. Usually damages are heaviest during periods when snow covers the ground continuously for more than a few days. However, cases are recorded where valuable orchards were ruined by mice when the ground was bare and where plenty of grain and other natural food were near at hand.

Ravages occur among all kinds of fruit trees, nursery stock in general, and many ornamental shrubs. Perhaps the bark of cherry trees is least appetizing to these rodents and the bark of apple trees most attractive. Apparently the age of trees plays minor roles. Reports sometimes indicate major damages to young, newly planted stock, but in many instances large, old trees seemingly attract the enemies first.

Clean tillage, where land slope permits, is one of the better ways to keep mouse numbers at a minimum. Where sod is maintained to protect soils from erosion, the cleaning of an area six feet in diameter around each tree before winter reduces mouse dangers considerably.

Encircling the trunk bases of trees with fine-mesh woven wire (hardware cloth) is one of the most effective means of protecting trees against the field mouse. But where the pine mouse is the culprit, such protectors are almost wholly useless because this species attacks trees below the ground surface. Trapping is an excellent method of combat where but a few trees or even a small orchard of an acre or less are endangered. Ordinary flap-per-type traps are effective, baited (Continued on Page 9)

Lind Puts In York's Bid For New Lab

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP) — York, Pa., has put in its bid as the site for the proposed Quartermaster Corps Research laboratory.

Pretty Moonshiner Given Probation

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 11 (AP) — A federal court judge and jury ruled Thursday that a pretty Morgan county mother of two was on the right side of the line and the wrong side of the law, but let her go home anyway.

Mrs. Margie Irene Durham, 22, said she left a sick child at home to stand trial on charges of working at a moonshine whiskey still. Her attorneys had tried to get the indictment quashed on grounds that she was arrested on the wrong side of the Morgan-Pentress county line which also divides two federal court districts. The judge overruled them. The jury found her guilty.

The man she was working with got away and never has been caught, a sheriff's deputy said, but Mrs. Durham lost a shoe in a creek and the handicap was too much of a drag on her speed. She was given a one-year probationary sentence.

tory, which would conduct tests on clothing and other equipment for the armed services.

The controversy over where the laboratory should be built has been chiefly one between Boston, where one was operated during the last war, and Philadelphia, location of the Quartermaster Corps depot. Final decision will be made by the Secretary of Defense.

Lind Puts In York's Bid For New Lab

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP) — York, Pa., has put in its bid as the site for the proposed Quartermaster Corps Research laboratory.

Rep. Lind (D.-Pa.) submitted the bid, prepared by the York Chamber of Commerce, and Thursday Lind received an acknowledgement of the bid from a Research and Development Board committee.

More than 300 sites have been suggested for the $11,000,000 labora-

Pretty Moonshiner Given Probation

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 11 (AP) — A federal court judge and jury ruled Thursday that a pretty Morgan county mother of two was on the right side of the line and the wrong side of the law, but let her go home anyway.

Mrs. Margie Irene Durham, 22, said she left a sick child at home to stand trial on charges of working at a moonshine whiskey still. Her attorneys had tried to get the indictment quashed on grounds that she was arrested on the wrong side of the Morgan-Fentress county line which also divides two federal court districts. The judge overruled them. The jury found her guilty.

The man she was working with got away and never has been caught, a sheriff's deputy said, but Mrs. Durham lost a shoe in a creek and the handcar was too much of a drag on her speed. She was given a one-year probationary sentence.

tory, which would conduct tests on clothing and other equipment for the armed services.

The controversy over where the laboratory should be built has been chiefly one between Boston, where one was operated during the last war, and Philadelphia, location of the Quartermaster Corps depot. Final decision will be made by the Secretary of Defense.

with rolled oats. It is set flush with the runways, unbaited traps will capture many of these unsuspecting animals. Daily attention to traps and plenty of traps are the two main keys to successful trapping operations.

Poisoning is perhaps the most effective method of keeping field mice under control, although it entails some danger to friendly birds and wild animals unless care is taken to protect them.

To make poison grain for this role, prepare at the following rate and according to these methods: Mix 1 tablespoonful of glass starch in one-fourth cup of cold water and stir this into three-fourths pint of boiling water to make a clear paste. Mix 1 ounce of powdered strychnine with 1 ounce of baking soda and stir it into the starch paste until it is free from lumps. Then stir in one-fourth pint of heavy corn sirup and 1 tablespoonful of glycerin. Pour this over 12 pounds of wheat and mix to coat each kernel. Steam-crushed oats is preferable to wheat. Distribute in teaspoonful lots in milk bottles or other wide-mouthed bottles or jars into which mice may enter easily but which bar birds and friendly animals. Small drainage tiles make excellent bait shelters.

These containers should be placed horizontally near trees and covered with brush or coarse weeds which will not mat down and cause the bait to mold.

Quail, grouse, pheasants, domestic chickens and turkeys are highly resistant to strychnine poisoning. However, other birds are endangered. Too much care cannot be employed to prevent these reaching the bait.

Lillies Are Tough and Like To Winter in the Garden

Lillies are far from being delicate plants. If you fall with them it is more likely you were too fussy, than that you neglected them. Many failures result from placing hardy bulbs in the spring, rather than in the fall. Bulbs sold in the spring have passed the winter in cold storage, where they lose vigor, and are less resistant to disease than if they spent the winter planted in the garden.

Cold weather is no hardship to a hardy lily, but cold storage is an unnatural experience. And the only lilies which like standing in water are water lilies. Poor drainage, which allows the soil to remain wet for long periods, is likely to be fatal to the other kind. The proper soil is highly porous, allowing water to drain away and air to enter. If you have sandy soil, or deep wood soil, rich in leaf mould, lilies should thrive in your garden especially if you can plant them on a southern slope.

Charts indicating that lily bulbs should be planted 8 to 10 inches deep are now being challenged, since bulb growers on the Pacific coast have found that excellent results can be obtained by relatively shallow planting. Lulum candidum and its hybrids should barely be covered with soil they say, and larger bulbs should be planted with the depth of soil above them equal to the diameter of the bulb.

Another old-time rule which they challenge is that only bone meal should be used to fertilize lilies. They use ordinary commercial plant food in liberal amounts, and find it causes no injury. In preparing a bed for lilies, spade under a complete balanced plant food at the rate of 4 pounds to 100 square feet. In planting bulbs singly mix a teaspoonful of plant food with soil at the bottom of the hole, and cover it with an inch of fresh soil on which to set

POISONING ORCHARD MICE.

Damages inflicted by field mice on fruit trees vary in scope and nature from year to year, depending on the natural food supplies of the animals, number of survivors of the previous year's winter, and above all on weather conditions. The number of survivors is greatly influenced by their enemies—foxes, skunks, snakes and larger birds of prey. Usually, damage is heaviest during periods when snow covers the ground continuously for more than 100 days. However, cases are reported where valuable orchards the little white sand in the soil is beneficial to lilies. A mere thin layer of cushion of sand below the bulb is of negligible value. It should be well pressed at through the soil, to give the poosity which is desired.

were ruined by mice when the ground was bare and where plenty of grain and other natural food were near at hand.

Ravages occur among all kinds of fruit trees, nutmegs, stock in general and many ornamental shrubs. Perhaps the bulk of cherry trees is least appetizing to these rodents and the bulk of apple trees most attractive. Apparently the age of trees plays minor roles. Reports sometimes indicate minimal damages to young, newly planted stock, but in many instances large, old trees seemingly attract the enemies first.

Clean tillage, where land slope permits is one of the better ways to keep mouse numbers at a minimum. Where sod is maintained to protect soils from erosion, the cleaning of an area six feet in diameter around each tree before winter reduces mouse damage considerably.

To exclude the trunk bases of trees with fine-mesh woven wire (card-wire cloth) is one of the most effective means of protecting trees against the field mouse. But where the pine mouse is the culprit such protectors are almost wholly useless.

INDIA ARMING AS REDS HIT NEARBY TIBET

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Indian Prime Minister Nehru's middle-of-the-road policy in the East-West struggle apparently is undergoing a sharp overhauling.

India suddenly has shifted to intensive arming for defense.

Red China's invasion not only of Korea but of Tibet—which lies up against India, Burma and Pakistan—has given the New Delhi government a rough jolt. Tibet could be used as a base for air attack on these sister states.

The writing on the wall can't be ignored, and it proclaims that Communist China isn't going to let moral suasion stand in the way of its program of expansion.

Nehru Changes

So we see Nehru, exponent of peace and a potential leader of Asia, making the abrupt and dramatic move of giving top priority to the strengthening of India's defenses. And this great idealist displays his practical side by declaring that defense consists not only of large armies and many guns, "but industrialization, self-sufficiency in food and maintenance of high morale among the people."

This development must be costing Nehru much heart-burning. He has been pursuing the principles of peace taught by Gandhi, whose faithful disciple Nehru was for many years. The prime minister, like the little Mahatma, has been stubborn in his peace stand.

The reaction of India's sister state, Pakistan, hasn't yet been announced. These two big new nations have had some bitter differences which at times have come close to dangerous blows. However, peace negotiations have been going on between them, and good results have been reported. Anyway, in the event of attack by an outsider on either of these nations, one would expect them to stand together. Between them they have a population estimated at more than 430,000,000 (India, 390,185,000 and Pakistan 70,103,000)—almost as big as China's estimated 463,500,000.

India ranks eighth among the industrial nations of the world. She has the greatest steel mills in Asia.

This is a factor of tremendous importance. Armies are helpless without industrial backing—and India has that support in a big way. Pakistan's contribution apart from manpower, if she were India's ally, would be in agricultural products. They should make a good team.

Wage And Price Controls Urged

Washington, Dec. 11 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) has urged the American people to demand "in self defense" that the administration invoke at once the wage and price controls which top officials conceded are inevitable.

Key officials who are in daily contact with President Truman said Thursday that the date when controls are imposed depends primarily on the time required to set up the necessary administrative forces.

Some word on the timing may come from the anti-inflation top command today. Alan Valentine, economic stabilization administrator, and his two chief lieutenants, Michael V. DiSalle for prices and Cyrus S. Ching for wages, arranged to meet reporters this morning.

Valentine's ESA last night took its first action to restrain climbing prices, with no assurance it would succeed. It asked General Motors and Ford to suspend their announced price hikes on 1951 auto models, and eight other manufacturers to hold up any contemplated price rise. GM and Ford had no immediate comment. They said they had not seen Valentine's request.

Average house lighting circuits function satisfactorily on 15-ampere fuses, while circuits working appliances may require 20-ampere.

Steel Expansion Program Planned

Pittsburgh, Dec. 11 (AP)—Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, the nation's fourth largest steel producer, experts to boost production capacity to 6,400,000 tons a year with its $228,000,000 expansion program.

The expected boost in capacity over a two-year period represents an increase of 32 per cent over J. & L's present production rate. Expansion covers plans in Cleveland, Aliquippa, Pa., and Pittsburgh.

President Ben Moreell told a news conference Thursday his company intends to borrow $40,000,000 under a bank credit agreement. General Motors corporation will put up an additional $28,000,000 for expansion of J. & L's Otis works in Cleveland. The automobile makers have agreed to buy 240,000 more tons of steel a year from the steel company when GM is operating full blast.

A small rotary-type snow plow has recently appeared for use with a garden tractor.

The Radio City Music Hall in New York is the largest indoor theater in the world and seats 6,200 people. Approximately 290,000,000 train passengers enter and leave New York City every year.
